Happy New Year one and all! As we start out this New Year and anticipate what the future holds for us, we look forward to the new beginnings and hold hope for all the positive that we will make happen in our lives. That also means, hopefully, a great flying season is on its way staring us straight in the face. I don't know if anyone here does any winter flying with snow runners and all, but if you do, and you're taking advantage of this crisp cool air, why don't you write a little winter field report and I'll put it in the next issue?

The Christmas meeting went well and we can look back on another good year with fond memories. Till next time, keep that winter coat on.
